

The Reeboks Adventure

Hello, down here hey, I'm a pair of Reebok zigs with a pair of lime green shoe laces, a black sole with a blue rim around it and a blue tongue. My owners name is Harm Graham. I think were going to the mall, take a jog thru the park, and walk on the sidewalk. Here we go off on an adventure lets hope theres friction.

First, we go to the mall. Were walking through the mall. The mall floor is so smooth so there is probably barely any friction.

Harm goes into the bathroom and all the sudden he falls. Then we go to the food court.

I stepped on a piece of gum. I asked the gum, "What are you doing on the floor." He said, "Some kid spit me out his mouth."

Then, I took a jog thru the park. The grass was soaking wet. There was no friction at all. I slipped on the grass. Then he started Sweating. It was like a lubricant. Because we slipped a whole lot more that day.

Last, we went walking down the sidewalk it had lots of friction. But it was very rough and hot, ~~OWWWW~~! Then he stepped in a puddle of grease and I went flying off his smelly feet. I said, "Watch where you're going next time!" Then he started running it felt so good. But it also burned my sales because of kinetic energy. It was like there was hardly any surface so that means less friction. I just hope he doesn't fall again, were back at his house.

In conclusion, we went a lot of places today. We went to the mall, the park, and the sidewalk. It was so fun but I wish there would have been more friction. Now you've seen what it's like to be me. ~~Happy~~ ~~Grubbers~~ ~~Marvelous~~ Reeboks!